

88 Keys & The Truth

"One of the best acts we've had at our school. The vocals were fantastic and they sure know their way around a keyboard. Not only are the original songs beautiful and well-crafted, but they spent a good part of the show taking requests from the audience. This was the only standing ovation we've ever had and then played a fifteen minute encore. The performance was fun, energy driven, engaging, and the best we've had in years."

-Michael B., Drew University

Two pianos. A million minds blown.

“The students are already asking for them back and said the show was great, and these guys have great energy!”

- Ashley Williams, Student Activities,
Washington & Jefferson College

When you put two pianos, two exuberant performers, and a thousand songs together you'll experience the most fun on person is allowed to have. Andrew Varner and Matty Monk are the performing madmen that make this all possible. Engaging, interactive, funny, and both multi-instrumentalists, these two pull out all the stops to keep the crowd moving, laughing, and dancing with well over a thousand songs to boot. You name it; The Beatles, Sinatra, Elvis, Michael Jackson, Led Zeppelin, Metallica, Nirvana, Lada Gaga, Britney Spears, Snoop Dogg, they do it all. Yes, Snoop Dogg.

Two accomplished artists in their own rights, you get two performing singer/songwriters for the price of one. They intertwine their own music into the show so that not only do you witness an entirely improvised and interactive show, it's also completely improvised. Andrew and Matty will come to your school with just their pianos or, if you want them to, they'll bring a full four-piece band for a guaranteed added punch.

“Andrew and Matty did a great job of engaging the audience, as a little dance party formed shortly after they got started and pretty much didn't stop until they was done for the night.”

-Carol Weiman, Residence Director, Murray State University
